Now With F.M.L.

MOVE OVER, SAM. . .

I was shot down in a conversation the other day like the Texas Rangers gunned outlaw Sam Bass at Round Rock back in '78.

I wouldn't like to be buried like ol' Sam in Round Rock, but it is an interesting area almost a century later. Another Sam, Sam Houston, would have agreed if he had lived long enough to see modern Central Texas. But he died in relative disrepute, from which he quickly was exhumed in Texas history books.

The Texas strain of independence is admirable, if not difficult to anticipate. I wouldn't have stayed here if it weren't magnetic. But in conversation, it's hard to voice this admiration without sounding phony. Maverick might have been what the middle initial "M" stands for in this column's heading if I had been born in Texas.

To paraphrase Gertrude Stein, "A fool is a fool is a fool" in or out of state. Sam Bass kept robbing banks and things until the Texas Rangers got him, and Sam Houston stood on a principle that cost him the governorship. And both Sams chose interesting areas for their part in Texas history.

An open mind, I keep. You can bet a cheese sandwich on it, open, Western style.

Area Roundup

Bloodmobile Effort Falters

ROCKDALE

Rockdale's Bloodmobile effort here Friday almost hit "rock bottom" according to the donor recruitment chairman. Only 13 donors showed up. The chairman said that Rockdale is consistently failing to meet its 70-unit quota, although numerous local residents give blood at drawings at Alcoa and Industrial Generating Co. "The town is supplying far less blood to the Red Cross than it is receiving," the chairman said.

Robertson Eyes Revenue Sharing

HEARNE

Robertson County and its four towns can look forward to receiving $223,342 as their portion of federal revenue sharing for 1972 if a compromise conference bill is approved by the House and Senate and signed by President Nixon. The city of Hearne would receive $31,000 while Franklin, Calvert and Bremond would split $30,842. The county's share would be $161,500.

Precinct Lines Realigned

GEORGETOWN

Realignment of the Commissioner precinct lines in Williamson County as presented by the Williamson County Commissioners Court was approved by U. S. District Judge Jack Roberts in the re-districting suit brought against the county by Mr. and Mrs. John Loving of Round Rock. The Loving's suit sought the redistricting of the precincts to equalize the voters of Williamson County and to have all commissioners posts in the court open because the May Democratic primaies had been held in unreapportioned precincts.

Drink Petition Filed

WACO

Petitions containing more than 11,000 signatures were filed requesting that a city wide local option election be called. The issue is whether or not to allow the sale of all alcoholic beverages, including mixed drinks. The election day sought is Tuesday, Nov. 7, the same day as the general election. The petitions were filed with County Clerk Frank Denny. Only 6,714 valid signatures were required.

Lone Star Decreases Request

TEMPLE

Lone Star Gas Co. proposed a 30 percent decrease in its original request for a gas rate increase in Temple, from 5.51 to 3.85 percent. The city commission has taken no action on the rate application since it was filed May 5. However Temple participated with 70 other Texas Municipal League cities in an engineering study on Lone Star's rate application. The study concluded the company was already making a rate of return of 7.25 percent on its Temple plant.

County Employees Get Raise

BELTON

Bell County Commissioners Court approved an across-the-board $25 per month raise for all county employees, effective Dec. 1. The raise does not include elected officials or appointed department heads. The pay raises will come out of the 1972 budget. The raise will not affect the five percent increase in salary, except for elected and appointed officials, set up in the 1973 budget.

Churches Plan Survey

ROSEBUD

A city-wide survey is to be held at the last of October by the First Baptist Church and First United Methodist Church of Rosebud. The survey is aimed at giving the churches of Rosebud a chance to serve their people and the community. Survey cards will be hung on doors Oct. 25 and every resident is asked to fill out the questionnaire.

Public Meeting Set For School Bond Issue

A public meeting for information on the proposed school bond election has been scheduled by an information committee formed to help get "all the facts" to the school patrons.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, October 17 in the Methodist Fellowship Hall.

Heading the committee are John B. Henderson Jr. and James D. Camp. An organizational meeting was held in late September with the help of Calvin Cobb, school board president, Supt. D. R. Dodson, architect D. D. Mathews and financial advisor David McGill.

The public meeting will cover all information about the proposed construction and renovation of the Cameron school plant. There will be an opportunity for patrons to ask any question they may wish.

Henderson said those who have some opposition to the program are also invited to come and ask questions.

The regular October meeting of the Cameron school board will be held Monday, October 9. It is expected that the bond election will be called at that meeting for late October.

Committees are being formed within the information committee including brochure distribution, telephone, publicity, speakers, and finance.

The speakers committee has already lined up speakers for some upcoming meetings of civic and service clubs and other groups in the school district. Club presidents or program chairmen are invited to contact the Chamber of Commerce office to request speakers for their meetings.

Burlington Man Dies In Headon Collision At Waco

Two area highway accidents resulted in death for a Burlington man and injury to a Taylor man. Both accidents occurred Thursday.

Cecil Parker, 45, of Burlington was pronounced dead on arrival at a Waco hospital following a two-car headon collision on Highway 31 near Waco.

The accident occurred about 8:30 p.m. Thursday. Driver of the other car, Francis Zales, 21, of Austin, was treated for minor injuries and released from a Waco hospital.

The other accident occurred about 7:30 a.m. Thursday at the intersection of Highways 36 and 79 south of Milano. Carroll O'Rear, hardware salesman from Taylor, was treated at St. Edward Hospital in Cameron for several broken ribs, and transferred to a Taylor hospital.

O'Rear's car was in collision with a truck driven by Clifford Terrell of Rt. 2, Dickson, Ill. The truck apparently missed the stop sign in heavy fog and went through the intersection, striking the car. Terrell was not injured.

Highway Patrolman Milton Wright investigated the accident.

Yoe Ties Hearne, 0-0

By Marilyn Hauk

A variety of offensive mistakes hindered the Yoemen from scoring Friday night and they settled for a 0-0 tie with the Hearne Eagles.

Despite the tie the Yoemen are still undefeated with a record of 0-3-1. Among the offensive errors were fumbling snaps, fumbling pitchouts, dropping passes, having passes intercepted, and bad snaps. The Yoe defense came through, though, to stop Hearne from scoring.

In the first quarter Pat Owens ran back a 39 yard punt to the Hearne 30-yard line. With 3 and 7 on their own 31 Vernon Miles caught a 19-yard pass for a first down and positioning at the 50-yard line. Two plays later Hearne fumbled but David Stefano recovered for a loss of two yards. From there the Eagles edged their way to the Yoe 15.

Eagle quarterback DeStefano shot a pass in the endzone, and watched George Whiteside step in to intercept.

In the third quarter Cameron kicked to Hearne who managed to drive the ball to the Cameron 30. But after running out of downs they were forced to punt.

Cameron managed to take the ball to the Hearne 44 but the punt fumbled and Hearne took over on the Cameron 24. At this time the Yoemen only allowed them 3 downs. Bruce Williams fumbled to see Cameron recover.

At the end of the fourth quarter Will Turner intercepted a pass at the Hearne 43. With 4 and 5 at the Hearne 25 his pass was intercepted in the end zone with 11 seconds remaining on the scoreboard.

Eye-catchers in the Yoe defense were Whiteside and Turner, who provided interceptions, Gene Koprive, David Hornung, Paul Vaculin, and Randy Tumlinson.

Firemen, Auxiliary Sponsoring Week

The Cameron Volunteer Firemen and the Fireman's Ladies Auxiliary are sponsoring Fire Prevention Week October 8-14.

Activities planned include a poster contest for students in kindergarten, Ben Milam and Ada Henderson Schools. The posters will be judged Friday at 2 p.m. in the Ada Henderson cafeteria.

Monday the firemen will display one of the city's fire trucks to students at Ben Milam School, and the firemen's emergency vehicle will be displayed to Ada Henderson students Monday afternoon.

Buyers 'Nutty' For Texas Pecans

Former Texas Gov. James Stephen Hogg asked at the turn of the century that a pecan tree be planted over his grave.

He may have made a very sound investment.

Statewide buyers said that pecans are money trees this season as out of state processors make a gold rush after those nutty nuggets.

The 1972 growing season will see state pecan harvests triple those of 1971 and become the biggest bumper crop ever. Bad weather and freezes have nipped other states' pecan crops literally in the bud, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

In Milam County, previous estimates of a bumper crop have gone down some, as insects and disease take their toll of the crop. County Agent Bill McCutchen said the crop will still be "pretty good," compared to last year's.

Prices vary according to the grade of the nut and the quantity bought, with the per pound price now hanging as high as 35 cents for natives and 45 cents for paper shell pecans. McCutchen said prices went higher than this last year for the better varieties.

USDA estimates advise that:

-- National pecan production will be down from the 1971 total of 247.2 million pounds to the 1972 estimate of less than 200 million pounds.

-- Texas poundage will rise from 1971's 24 million pounds to about 70 million pounds to lead the nation.

-- Other pecan producing states will have dismal crops after bouts with bad weather. Oklahoma, which harvested 19 million pounds in 1971, will only harvest about 2 million pounds this year.

-- North Carolina will harvest only about 600,000 pounds, compared with 11 million pounds last year.

"What this means," the USDA said, "is that people with pecans should not waste them --- the market situation hasn't been like this in 10 years."

The USDA psokesman said people often let pecans rot or even feed them to their hogs, when they could be making money.

McCutchen estimated Milam County's pecan crop will be approximately one million pounds, even counting the damage done to the crop by insects and disease.

PART OF THE COUNTY'S BOUNTY is shown here by clusters of pecans not yet ready for the gathering. This year is expected to bring a bumper crop from Texas, according to agricultural experts, and Milam County will offer its share.

Speakers Scheduled....

A speakers bureau or "information committee" has been organized to take the CISD bond proposal to civic and service clubs throughout the Cameron District.

Spokesman for the group said a School District Public Meeting is scheduled 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, October 17. This would be a general public meeting like the town meetings for prior projects in Cameron.

Committes within the "information committee" include brochure, telephone, publicity, speakers and finance groups. Spokesmen for the group said program chairmen of various clubs are invited to contact the Cameron Chamber of Commerce for speakers at meetings prior the bond vote.

This is a good way to get things going. It is organization that reaches out, presenting, as the spokesmen say, "all the facts."

We hope every group in the Cameron area hears all the facts, but we wonder why the press was excluded in the organizational meeting of this group.

We're openly, though qualifiedly (because of a need for an auditorium) for this project. In spades. But we are not for closed public meetings of organizational groups who are to carry "all the facts".

Your Herald will cover the main town meeting and make its own case for this project, which case has already been started. It is wise that speakers go before every group.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

MEDICAID, MEDICARE, NOW MEDICREDIT?

SEN. BOB PACKWOOD (Ore.)" . . .When the 92nd Congress began some 20 months ago, there was speculation that a broad national health insurance program would be written before we adjourned. Now, with adjournment in view, it looks like there will not be time to pass such legislation.

"We have seen over a dozen health insurance bills presented to the Congress. We have noted the thorough hearings before the House Ways and Means Committee last year, with over 200 witnesses appearing during nearly 5 weeks of hearings. .

"In the course of these different approaches, two philosophies toward the Federal role in health care emerged. . .

"One camp feels that it is the clear role of the Federal Government to pay--and/or provide--MEDICAL CARE FOR ALL AMERICANS, REGARDLESS OF THEIR ABILITY TO PAY or their present preferences for receiving and paying for their medical care.

"The other camp holds that the FEDERAL ROLE SHOULD BE RESTRICTED TO THE PROVISION AND FINANCING OF CARE FOR THOSE WHO CANNOT PAY FOR THEIR OWN. Additionally, the Federal role under this theory would properly include providing opportunities for new methods of treatment and new delivery systems. . .

"I have concluded that the second approach--permitting limited Federal involvement--is more feasible, more desirable, and more realistic. Accordingly I cosponsored a bill which I believe would work and make more sense. That bill is S.987, the HEALTH CARE INSURANCE ACT of 1971, also known as MEDICREDIT. . .

MEDICREDIT would:(1) pay the full cost of health insurance for those too poor to buy their own,(2) help those who can afford to pay a part--if not all -- of their health insurance premium (the less they can afford to pay, the more the government would help out), and(3) see to it that no American would have to bankrupt himself because of a long-lasting, catastrophic illness. . .

"As for the administration of such a program, it must certainly be in the hands of private industry. But just as certainly, this industry must be subject to strict State standards that are effective and protect the public, or there will be a clear need for Federal intervention.

"Financing should be a combination of private industry, Federal and State taxes and individual contributions.'

* * * * *

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

Nine years ago MEDICARE was considered a dead issue. Reason: cost too much; Blue Cross and Blue Shield would provide the necessary protection, etc. But MEDICARE is in full swing. When the dust of the hearings settles, a Federal Health Insurance program could emerge. It could be MEDICREDIT.

Chairman Named For Project

Mrs. R. N. Summers of Rockdale has been appointed Milam County chairman for Project Find, a recent federally funded program for the aged.

Proposed by Dr. Arthur Fleming, chairman of the 1971 White House Conference on Aging, "Project find" is designed to help 2.5 million more Americans aged 60 and over to obtain additional food.

Object of the program is two fold:

1) to relieve the problem of malnutrition among the aging and

2) to demonstrate to older persons that an arm of society cares about their circumstances.

Mud, Silt Covers Land In Philippines

By Miguel Arabut

MANILA

Two months after being ravaged by the worst floods in a century, many parts of the main Philippine island of Luzon are still blanketed by several feet of mud and silt.

More than 500 people died in the floods and damage to crops and property was put at 600 million pesos ($164 million).

But the long-term effects of the deluge may be even more disastrous.

The cost of rehabilitating nearly one million people left homeless by the floods is expected to cut the country's planned economic growth rate by 50 per cent in the current financial year.

Information officers from a number of diplomatic missions here were taken on a guided tour of "calamity areas" in the central Luzon provinces.

They travelled along the national highway, many stretches of it hastily patched-up and bare of shoulders which had been washed away by rampaging floodwaters.

In each province, they were briefed by officials of the National Highways Commission, the Philippine National Red Cross, the Department of Social Welfare, provincial officials and soldiers engaged in relief and rehabilitation work.

The diplomatic group included representatives from the Netherlands, Belgium, India, South Vietnam, Malaysia, Egypt, Japan, Switzerland, Indonesia, Britain, Australia, West Germany, and Sweden - all of which donated relief goods to help the flood victims.

Riding in a bus provided by the bureau of tourist and travel industry, the diplomats passed between rice and sugar fields still covered by mud and silt.

In some towns, up to four feet of silt left behind by the floodwaters covered school grounds. In some instances deserted houses could be seen still half-buried.

Jury System Changed Under Revised Rulings

By Bill Boykin
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN

Ten members of a 12-member jury can decide civil cases under new rules of civil litigation procedure adopted last week by the State Supreme Court.

Unanimous verdicts are now required of juries, and the change is regarded as one of the most far-reaching in many years.

An effort in the last legislature to authorize 10-2 jury verdicts fell under weight of defense attorney opposition.

Retiring Supreme Court Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert called the revised rules "the greatest reform measure during my term (22 years) on the court."

Rules deal with appeal motions, depositions, evidence discovery motions, and other matters.

Calvert said changes would do away with some elements of the adversary system and open up evidence. Rules will take effect Feb. 1, 1973.

Unanimous verdicts still will be required in criminal cases, but in civil litigation 10 or more jurors can decide a case. Five-to-one verdicts will be permitted in municipal, justice of the peace and county courts at law where six-man juries now decide cases.

Some attorneys said the key rules change would eliminate hung juries in civil cases, speed up trials and ease the backlog of civil cases jamming metropolitan courts. Others said the changes in discovery of evidence will reduce the number of actual trials. The latter change will allow all parties to a case to see what both sides have as evidence.

Another change would allow the State Supreme Court to reverse or modify a lower court finding or enter a new decision without awaiting formal arguments of contesting parties.

AGENDA GROWS

Gov. Preston Smith continued to open the special session call to new subject matter before any final action was taken on competitive insurance rates or gubernatorial fiscal powers.

Last Tuesday he dropped 16 more bill proposals on lawmakers for attention in a session due to wind up October 17. Among them were the following:

An $8 million appropriation for a Fort Worth school for the mentally retarded, changing hunting and fishing license fees, allowing bond financing of voting machines in counties over one million population, allowing subdivisions to issue bonds for air control facilities and lease the facilities to private interests, amending retirement statutes to allow credit for certain military, state employment and judicial services, allowing the State Board of Control to make purchases for political subdivisions and defining "child" under juvenile court procedures as one over 10 and under 17 years of age.

COURTS SPEAK

Texas Supreme Court handed down more than 100 rulings as it opened its new term last week. Among them were the following:

*Upholding a Fort Worth district court injunction prohibiting students at Tarrant County Junior College from disruptive conduct.

He Paints Moses In Sport Clothes

NEW YORK

Moses wears bermuda shorts while receiving the ten commandments and the Phillistines sport World War One combat fatigues in works by an Israeli painter in a current exhibition at the New York Cultural Center.

The one-man display contains 60 works by Shalom of Safred, 73, who said, "I do not paint paintings. I tell the story of the Bible in line and color."

He denied that his creations were scarilegious. The exhibition is co-sponsored by the Israeli Emassy, under the patronage of Ambassador Yitzhak Rabin, and the America - Israel Cultural Foundation.

Shalom of Safred said in an interview, "I paint what I see in my head and what I read in the Bible. One of the things he "saw" and painted is Jerusalem lit by modern street lamps.

Cultural Center Director Mario Amaya said of the artist's works:

"Their very naivete gives them an immediacy, a force of conviction and a direct honesty that convinces us of the artists own fervid beliefs and makes us believe in them ourselves."

Shalom, who paints in the primitive style, turned to painting when he was in his sixties -- after a half-century as a watchmaker in the town of Safed. He had no formal training in either watchmaking or art.

The retrospective display, of works executied between 1959 and 1971, is one of several which have been held at Philadelphi's Academy of Fine Arts and European Museums including the Stedelijk in Amsterdam and Kunsthaus in Zurich.

Some of his paintings are in permanent collections of New York's Museum of Modern Art and its counterpart, Musee d ' Art Moderne, in Paris, among other leading U. S. and European museums.

New York Senator Jacob Javits was a co-host at the opening reception here Sept. 26 for the exhibition which will continue through October 29.

Referendum Set For Pecan Fees

Texas pecan growers will vote not later than October 23 on whether or not to assess themselves a small fee for a fund with which to administer a program or research, education, promotion and disease and insect control designed to encourage production, marketing and use of Texas pecans.

Texas Pecan Growers Association was designated by Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White to hold the referendum after a public hearing on the association's petition.

Ballots have been mailed to pecan growers in all 254 counties but those who may not have received ballots may obtain a ballot from the county agents. A two-third majority is necessary to approve the referendum.

Twelve members of a board to administer the fund also are to be elected on the same ballot.

Proposed is a fund of not more than 50 cents for 100 pounds of pecans, although the actual rate to bet set by the board may be less than the 50-cent maximum.

If approved, the assessment will be collected from the first handler of pecans.

Public Health Workers Encourage Pre-Schoolers To Recieve Immunizations In State-Wide Program

State Health Dept. Officials say there are thousands of children in Texas today who are susceptible to one or more preventable diseases, and most of these youngsters are between one and four years of age.

The Milam County Health Unit and state health authorities have mounted a massive immunization campaign to reduce the number of pre-schoolers who remain unimmunized.

Ms. Jane Cunningham, Milam County Public Health Nurse, said immunizations are available from the family doctor or at the following clinics:

Cameron - Health Unit Office at 209 S. Houston between 1 and 5 p.m. on Mondays and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Thursdays;

Rockdale - Second floor of Rockdale City Hall between 8:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. on the first and third Tuesday of the month;

Thorndale - City Hall between 8:30 and 12 noon on the second and fourth Tuesday of the month.

Statistics show that as most school-age children in Texas are becoming immunized, these diseases are striking hard at unimmunized pre-school children. In polio, for example, the problem area is among pre-school children.

Since the Salk and Sabin vaccines were discovered a decade ago, these has been no major polio outbreak in the United States. But Texas has always had more than its share of this disease. In a five-year period in Texas, 121 of 133 victims of polio were under five years of age.

Measles, a disease that can be prevented by immunization, also strikes hard at preschool children. Nearly 78 percent of all measles deaths in Texas between 1965 and 1970, occurred in preschool-age children.

Public health workers in Milam County are contacting families with pre - school children to encourage them to have immunizations. The program, Infant Immunization Surveillance, was developed after statistics from 1970 showed Texas recorded 78 percent of all the polio cases reported in the nation; 53 percent of all diphtheria cases; 18 percent of all measles; and 10 percent of all tetanus cases.

PROTECTED - one-year-old Georgiann David, newly arrived in Cameron with her mother (right) from Bethel, Alaska, will not have to fear death from measles as 20 Texas pre-schoolers did last year. Georgiann received her measles immunization from Public Health Nurse Jane Cunningham during Cameron clinic day at the Milam County Health Unit Thursday. See related story for clinic locations and hours.

Meat : America's Favorite Food

"People today have an almost unquenchable hunger for meat and other high protein foods."

The average American consumes 634 pounds of meat a year, according to Marshall M. Miller, poultry marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University.

Yet, per capita food consumption as a whole is declining in the United States. In 1940, per capita consumption was 1,548 pounds of food -- today it is 100 pounds less. Per capita consumption of crop products has dropped from 948 pounds to 1940 to 814 pounds today.

Most of the overall drop in consumption has come in flour, cereal, potatoes and even eggs. One of the reasons for this is that more housewives are returning to work and are making use of time-saving convenience foods. However, egg consumption is now back at the 1940 level --319.

"Even as per capita food consumption has declined, the rate at which we are eating animal products has risen," says Miller. Beef and veal consumption has nearly doubled (116 pounds today) broiler consumption went from two pounds in 1940 to 37 pounds today. The amount of turkey eaten nearly tripled in the same period and now stands at eight pounds per capita.

What are people going to eat in the future? "That's anybody's guess," contends Miller. "Earnings and disposable income are at an all-time high in this country. Americans do have an unquenchable hunger for meats, an appetite which poultry, especially broilers and turkeys, could satisfy. Poultry products are economical and efficient both in production and preparation."

THE INFORMED CONSUMER

BY CRAWFORD C. MARTIN
Attorney General of Texas

Nearly everyone has at sometime pondered the value difference between the three pound economy size of "whats-it" for $1.08 and the 33 1/2 ounce Jumbo size of the same product that sells for 61¢. To add to the confusion even more you may find a 20 ounce regular size box available for 43¢. Most people can figure out the size that offers the best cost per ounce value, but it takes time.

The unit pricing system aids in solving this type of problem for consumers. Unit pricing is a subject which has been written and talked about a lot. Several state legislatures have introduced unit pricing laws. New York City supermarkets are now required to comply with unit pricing regulations. Some Texas stores have adopted unit pricing systems. But many consumers still ask "what is it?"

Unit pricing is simply a plan in which the price of the merchandise is shown on the package in two ways. The total price of the item is shown, but in addition there is a price per unit shown. For example: If a one pound package of shelled pecans sells for $1.60, this price would be shown on the package. Additionally the unit price of 10¢ per ounce would be shown on the package. If a ten ounce package of pecans sold for $1.10 the package would show the total price of $1.10 and it would also disclose the unit price of 11¢ an ounce. You could see at a glance that the pecans in the one pound package cost one cent less per ounce than the pecans in the ten ounce package. The unit pricing information gives shoppers a chance to quickly and easily compare the relative unit cost of different size packages.

Of course the price per unit does not take quantity needs into account. If you need only ten ounces of pecans and the other six ounces would spoil before you could use them, the smaller size would be the proper one for you to purchase even though it costs more per ounce. Neither does unit pricing consider brand or quality differences. Assume that a box of Brand X contains 12 ounces of a product at a unit price of 3.5¢ per ounce and a box of Brand B contains 14 ounces of a like product at a unit price of 3.8¢ per ounce. If you family likes the taste of Brand B better you might still prefer to buy that product in spite of its higher unit price.

But if you simply want to get the most economical price, unit pricing makes your taks much easier. You aren't faced with a series of mathematical problems everytime you enter the supermarket.

Over the years, the public has generally come to accept the fact that the larger size packages are more economical. This is usually true but not always. Often the smaller or medium size container is actually the cheapest buy per unit volume.

The informed consumer will compare prices before buying.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK proclamation is signed by Sheriff Carl Black, fire chief, seated, while Milam County Farm Bureau director A. T. Swanzy looks on.

Milam Farm Bureau Urges Fire Prevention

Sheriff Carl Black, who is also Fire Chief of the Cameron Volunteer Fire Dept. and A. T. Swanzy, one of the directors of the Milam County Farm Bureau, urge Milam County citizens to pay special heed to the observance of National Fire Prevention Week, October 8-14.

"We ask that everyone develop good fire safety habits including care with matches and smoking, good housekeeping to rid the home of rubbish and proper use of electrical fuses, appliances and extension cords, "the chief said. He added, "Fires killed more than 11,850 persons and cost more than $2 billion in the U. S. last year."

Swanzy said the fall and winter months are the most vulnerable times of the year for rural fires. "When fire occurs on farm or rural property, damage is three to six times greater than in the average city fire," the Farm Bureau Director added.

Farm Bureau has two programs designed to help curtail fire losses. The County Farm Bureau, in cooperation with the Texas Farm Bureau, sponsors the attendance of local volunteer firemen to the annual Firemen's Training School each summer in College Station. More than 1,000 firemen have attended under Farm Bureau sponsorship during the past nine years. Attending from Milam County this summer was Lloyd Rider of Cameron.

The state and local Farm Bureaus also pay $75 to fire departments for fighting rural fires on Farm Bureau insured property.

In addition to these programs, County Farm Bureaus sponsor a graphic 45-minute fire prevention demonstration. More than 1,400 were given in some 200 different counties, before schools, civic clubs and other groups by the TFB Safety Department during the past ten years. Also, over 28,000 fire extinguishers have been sold to Farm Bureau members as a continuing program of rural fire protection.

Cottonseed Support Sought

WACO

Texas Farm Bureau President J. T. (Red) Woodson on Oct. 3 requested Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz to authorize a price support program for cottonseed to assist in the marketing of this year's crop.

Present farm legislation provides authority for such price supports, but the program is not now operative.

"Cotton producers are having problems with marketing their '972 crop," Woodson wired Secretary Butz. "In addition to the depressed market for fiber, the price to farmers for cottonseed appears to be out of line when compared to the cost of cottonseed meal for livestock feed."

The president of the 130,000 - member farm organization urged Butz "to exercise your authority to offer a price support program for cottonseed to producers in order to provide more orderly marketing for the 1972 crop."

If the Secretary decides to provide supports for this commodity, he is required by law to set the price support at a level that is competitive with other oilseed crops.

Texas cotton farmers received an average of $44 per ton for their cottonseed in late September, according to the USDA. This amounts to 52.6 per cent of parity.

TAP Program Features Texas Pork In October

AUSTIN

Texas pork is pure, plentiful, and preferred. Pork is being featured during October through the Texas Agricultural Products (TAP) program working in cooperation with the Texas Pork Producers Association.

About 18,000 colorful posters will be used this month throughout the state proclaiming the advantages of pork.

Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White noted that Texas is becoming a major pork producing state. Texas now ranks 14th in the nation in hog production. More than 325,000,000 pounds of pork were produced in 1969 with cash receipts to Texas hog producers of more than $71 million.

A brochure explaining how to cook pork has been prepared by the Texas Department of Agriculture's TAP staff.

Pork being produced by today's producers is far superior to that of a few years ago. There's more edible meat per pound, less fat and more body-building protein in today's pork. Pork has 22 per cent more protein, 57 per cent less fat and 36 per cent fewer calories today compared to a few years ago.

Pork provides three times as much of the "nerve" vitamin -- Thiamine -- than any other known food item. Pork can play an important role in diets for weight control.

A free copy of the brochure along with other recipes utilizing pork can be obtained by writing John C. White, Texas Agriculture Commissioner, Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

AS THE PASTOR SEES IT. .

"Did you know, Ike Greer is dead, Jerry." Emeola Greer, Ike's lovely wife greeted me that way as I went to call on her upon hearing of the death of my friend, I. C. Greer, for more than 40 years a Methodist preacher. I knew, of course; I had made the trip to express my love to her now that her beloved Ike had "passed."

On Sunday night after a full day leading worship and teaching and preaching, he died. That's the time a preacher ought to die--after he has emptied himself and preached the gospel one more time. It would be sad to die with a sermon prepared, even part way, and not yet preached.

He must have known something, for calmly in the late evening he said to Emeola, "Come give me a hug." She teased him a bit, not knowing that this was to be the last one. "You're spoiled." "No, come give me a hug, Emeola; I need one." She came and put her arms around him. "Now give me a kiss," he said. Then he leaned his head on her breast and died.

You understand, I am not anxious to go just yet, but when I do I wouldn't mind going on Sunday night, after preaching one more time, and in the arms, encircled by the warmth, of "the woman the Lord gave me."

Ike Greer is dead, but his death seems to me to testify that "he knew whom he had believed and was persuaded that He is able to keep that which he had committed unto Him against that day."

Jerry Jay Smith

Mrs. Emeola Greer wishes to thank Mr. Smith for his words and also, wishes to thank Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Dusek for their gift in the memory of her husband.

Industry Claims Eggs Not Heart Disease Villian

COLLEGE STATION

The president of the Poultry and Egg National Board said here Wednesday that there is still no solid scientific evidence that eggs can lead to heart disease in humans.

He also listed findings indicating that eggs are not the villains they have been made out to be in boosting serum cholesterol.

Dr. L. A. Wilhelm of Chicago, speaking during Texas A&M University's 27th Annual Nutrition Conference, said the egg industry has felt helpless and angry by the cholesterol attack -- an attack "spearheaded by the American Heart Association and widely quoted by food faddists and health columnists who do not attempt to present a scholarly or unbiased, scientific approach to the problem. . ."

Build-up of the attack was prophesied, he said, by way of a report from the Inter-Society Commission for Heart Disease Resources, issued in December, 1970.

"Financed by our tax dollars, this was not a piece of scholarly research by a group of unbiased scientists," the speaker pointed out. "It was a carefully slanted presentation citing research that leaves the impression that egg -- yolk specifically -- as well as many other meat and milk items, are harmful -- when in most cases such proof does not exist."

In rebuttal, the National Commission on Egg Nutrition has just published a non-technical "Position Paper," Wilhelm said. The NCEN searched scientific literature and used consultants in the fields of medicine, nutrition and lipid (fats) chemistry.

He said the Position Paper points out that. . .

---Research does not indicate that eating eggs will increase serum cholesterol in the average person.

---A high level of serum cholesterol is correlated with high risk of heart disease "in most people."

---High levels of serum cholesterol and high risk of coronary heart disease have been correlated only in people who inherit high cholesterol levels from both parents.

Wilhelm added that most people, whether in the egg industry or the medical profession, fail to distinguish between cholesterol and saturated fatty acids easily converted to cholesterol.

"Likewise, the medical profession, fail to distinguish between cholesterol and saturated fatty acids easily converted to cholesterol.

"Likewise, the medical profession professes little or no interest in the fact that synthetic or chemical cholesterol, naturally occurring cholesterols, dired egg yolk and fresh egg yolk, all react differently in the body as compared to whole egg. . . ", he said.

CTCOG Sees Need For State, Federal Funding

AUSTIN

Central Texas Council of Governments, Belton, foresees a need for $1,755,000 in state and federal funding to support criminal justice projects in the seven-county area it serves, says its new regional plan.

The document, "Criminal Justice Action Plan, 1973-1977," has just been received by Governor Preston Smith's Criminal Justice Council. It projects a need for CJC funding during the next year for 47 action projects, all with the regional council as grantee.

Many of the projects it plans are regionwide in scope, designed to serve Mills, San Saba, Hamilton, Lampasas, Bell, Coryell and Milam counties.

Local funding must supplement the grant in each case by at least 15 percent of the project cost.

Assigned primary emphasis in the highest-priority list is updating the region's existing law enforcement radio communications. CJC funding need is pegged at $297,000.

Others of the top 10 projects and proposed funding for each, in the order of emphasis, are:

Basic police training, $35,000; improved teletype communications, $16,000; technical equipment for crime prevention and criminal investigation, $15,000; equipment for civil disorder control, $12,000; merit salary increases as incentives for training and education, Killeen and Temple police departments, $30,000; assistance to counties in updating county jails, $50,000; college education opportunities for law enforcement officers, $8,000; continuation of youth service program, $64,000; special police unit to carry out investigations, $40,000.

MH-B Receives Meadows Grant

Dr. Bobby E. Parker, president of Mary Hardin-Baylor College announced Friday the receipt of a $5,000 grant from the Meadows Foundation of Dallas.

The grant is to be used for furnishings and equipment as part of the renovation of Goodman Recreation Hall, according to President Parker. A $60,000 grant was given recently by the Moody Foundation of Galveston for the expansion program.

A foundation interested primarily in local giving, the Meadows Foundation emphasizes secondary and higher education in their giving. The $5,000 grant is their first gift to Mary Hardin - Baylor. They are also active supporters of medical research, hospitals and art museums.

28.8 Million Veterans On Nations Roll

California maintained its lead as the state with the most former servicemen as the Nation's veteran population climbed to 28.8 million during fiscal year 1972.

A year earlier, there were 28.3 million living veterans.

Jack Coker, Director of the Waco Veterans Administration Regional Office, said Veteran Population, a statistical report issued semi - annually, also notes that the average age of all veterans is 44.7 years.

There were over 3.1 million veterans in California as fiscal year 1972 drew to a close, compared to just over three million a year earlier.

Quoting the report, Coker said there are 1,430,000 in Texas.

Runnerup to California was New York with 2.6 million veterans, followed by Pennsylvania, 1.8 million; Illinois and Ohio, 1.6 million each; Texas 1.4 million; Michigan 1.2 million; New Jersey, 1.1 million and Florida, 1.04 million.

Veteran population in the remaining states ranged from 32,000 in Alaska to 851,000 in Massachusetts. Other than Alaska, states with small numbers of veterans are Wyoming, 55,000; Vermont, 61,000; and Nevada, 69,000, according to the VA report.

Gause News

By Mrs. Wanda Lee

On August 27 Preston Bowling and Paul Sherman of St. Louis, Missouri arrived in Gause to meet Mrs. Sarah Bowling and all left the next day and went to Dallas where they boarded a plane for Hawaii. They left Dallas at 1 p.m. and arrived at 3:30 p.m. Honolulu time.

While there they toured four islands and enjoyed the many interesting places and sights, including Pearl Harbor and the National Cemetery. They also saw a volcano that constantly emits steam, toured the sugar cane, pineapple and coffee fields, and saw the many beautiful and various flowers. Mrs. Sarah said they thought the island could be called the "Land of Flowers."

On one island they attended a worship service where a friend of Preston's was pastor. They had worked together in the Christian Endeavor Organization in St. Louis.

On their return they stopped in Los Angeles, Calif. and visited Mrs. Sarah's daughter and Preston's sister, Mrs. Gladys Hohenhaus and family. Then on to San Diego for a visit with daughter and sister, Mrs. Helen Miller and husband.

Preston and Paul then boarded a plane for their homes in St. Louis. Mrs. Sarah remained for a couple more days visit then flew to Tucson, Arizona and visited her granddaughter, Mrs. Rebecca Bowling Hilton, children and mother. From there she flew to San Antonio and visited the Albert Wilson family. Her sister Mrs. Nell Smith picked her up and took her to her home in Seguin for a few days visit. Then she came on to Austin for a visit with sister, Mrs. Lucille Ivey and from there came home on the bus.

Mrs. Mildred Ely visited with Mr. Will Faulkner at the Waggon Wheel Lodge in Hearne one day last week. She reports he is doing fine and liking living there.
